Work with an Interdisciplinary Team

Bramalea Community Health Centre provides our clients and neighbours with a range of services and supports from a great team of health professionals. Along with our physicians, we employ nurse practitioners, diabetes nurse educators, community health educators, medical office assistants, registered dietitians, a social worker, a chiroprapist and a physiotherapist. They all work together to build health in our community. Each professional on the team uses his or her full experience and skills, contributing to the best health outcomes for our clients.

Electronic health records make team communication and shared care a breeze! We have also demonstrated a commitment to current trends in primary care, recently participating in the Quality Improvement and Innovative Partnership (QIIP).
